Coverage includes Volume 1 to Present with a 2 year embargo period. Additional issues are added each year by Smithsonian Libraries.

Search by Scientific Name in BHL, www.biodiversitylibrary.org/advsearch

1. Type any scientific name into the BHL search box
2. Click on the Scientific Names tab (far right)
3. Choose the appropriate name from the list
4. View bibliography listing all mentions of that species name throughout the BHL
 - Names are discovered using an algorithm over uncorrected, automatically generated full-text, and therefore this feature should not be considered exhaustive or authoritative
 - List is automatically sorted A-Z, and therefore all AKF results will appear clustered together towards the beginning of the list

Search the full-text of issues of AKF

- Search results in BHL will display hits for your term in both the bibliographic information (title, author, etc.) as well as full text of items in the library. To search for terms within AKF, enter ““Animal Keepers' Forum” AND [search word or phrase]” into the search box at biodiversitylibrary.org. Be sure to place quotation marks around phrases.
 1. Click Details below each search result to see where your search term occurs within each result.
 2. Use the Narrow Search By facets (left-side of screen) to further refine your results by content type, publication date, subject, language, and/or author.
 3. Click the title of any search result to view the item online.
- To search inside an issue of AKF you are viewing online in BHL, expand the Search Inside tab (right-hand side, book viewer screen) and enter your term into the search box. Use quotation marks for phrases.
 1. Results will show your search term in context. Click on the page link to view the desired page.
